LONDON, Sept. 27—Air bombers of six nations—their racks ready for loading—stood poised on Europe's airfields today awaiting the decision that may send them hurtling across the skies on their journeys of death and destruction certain to launch any outbreak of hostilities. The key cities of England and the continent, with their millions of women and children, may know the first onslaught if war comes.

CZECHS FLATLY REJECT HITLER TERMS

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak minister to London, today made public his government's note flatly refusing to accept Adolf Hitler's "final" terms for cutting up Czechoslovakia as the price of European peace.

Publication of the note, which was delivered Sunday to British For-ign Minister Viscount Halifax, was considered today in the light of a direct reply to Hitler's address last night, when he warned he would act if he did not get what he demanded as Sudetenland by Oct. 1.

Text of Czech Reply to Hitler

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The text of Czechoslovak government's note rejecting Chancellor Hitler's Sudetenland demands, which was handed to the British foreign secretary, Viscount Halifax, by the Czech minister to London, Jan Masaryk, last Sunday, follows:

My government has instructed me just now, in view of the fact that French statesmen are not arriving in London today, to bring to His Majesty's government's notice the following message without any delay:

(Editor's note: The French statesmen arrived later.)

The Czechoslovak people have shown a unique discipline and self-restraint in the last few weeks, regardless of the unbelievably coarse and vulgar campaign of the controlled German press and radio against Czechoslovakia and its leaders, especially President Benes.

His Majesty's and the French governments are very well aware we agreed under most severe pressure to the so-called Anglo-French plan for ceding parts of Czechoslovakia. We accepted this plan under extreme duress.

We had not even time to make any representations about its many unworkable features.

Nevertheless, we accepted it because we understood it was the end of demands to be made upon us and because it followed from Anglo-French pressure that these two powers would accept responsibility for our reduced frontiers, and would guarantee us their

This new aspect of frankness injected into the previous secret negotiations to stave off war was heightened by the announcement that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would make a world broadcast at 8 p. m. today.

(3 p. m. EDT).

"TERMS UNACCEPTABLE"

Some observers believed Chamberlain would lay all his cards on the table just as Masaryk did in a strong bid to influence world opinion in favor of democratic nations and against Nazi-Fascist countries.

The Czech note said:

"My government wished me to declare that Hitler's demands in their present form are absolutely and unconditionally unacceptable to my government.

"Against these new cruel demands my government feels bound to make their utmost resistance and we shall do so, God helping us."

When Hitler urged his demands to cheering Nazis in Berlin last night there was no indication he knew the Czech government Sunday had told the British and French ministers it could not accept Hitler's ultimatum for large territorial concessions in Sudeten areas.

WITH ANGLO-FRENCH O. K.

Masaryk's unusual step in publishing the note made the Czechoslovak government's stand absolutely clear and gave a direct answer to Hitler.

Diplomatic notes passing between governments usually are not published without express agreement between the governments concerned.

Thus it appeared Masaryk's move was made with the approval of Chamberlain and Premier Edouard Daladier of France and constituted—if there was such agreement—a new statement of stern policy to be followed in concerned British, French and Czechoslovak action.

"WE ARE RESOLVED"—There were the headlines screaming in Hitler's newspapers today following his momentous speech yesterday. Grim and determined, the Fuehrer is pictured above, while on the left is ample proof that not only is he "resolved," but also prepared. "We are now armed to such an extent as the world has never seen before," he declared. And as he spoke, this detachment of field guns was whistling on its way to the Czech border as the October 1 deadline neared.

Hitler Reopens Door to Peace

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 27 — A door seemingly closed to peaceful settlement of the Sudeten problem was opened cautiously today by Adolf Hitler, although at the same time he flatly renounced responsibility for future war in Europe.

A glimmering of hope was seen in his reply to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's offer to guarantee peaceful cession of the Sudetenland to Germany. Well-informed circles believed Hitler would accept such a guarantee if Chamberlain can promise publicly that the wheels are set in motion by October 1.

MAPS WAR, TALKS PEACE

Coincident with this development which served to revive hopes for a peaceful solution, he replied to President Roosevelt's peace appeal by disclaiming war responsibility and insisting upon the principle of self-determination. Simultaneously, there was a more sinister development when Hitler called a council of war at the chancellery.

Commanders of the German army, navy and air force attended the council of war. Hitler also consulted Nazi party leaders after his conference with Sir Horace Wilson.

Hitler's reply to Chamberlain's appeal was handed to Sir Horace Wilson of the British foreign office, who unexpectedly remained in Berlin overnight and saw Hitler for half an hour before flying back to London this afternoon.

Quarters usually well-informed about Hitler's plans went so far as to say the reply "gives new hope for a peaceful solution."

These circles declared if Chamberlain is publicly willing to assume full guarantees that the Sudetenland is returned without delay, and if he takes on responsibility for holding President Benes to such a commitment within a fixed time limit, such a procedure would undoubtedly be agreeable to the Fuehrer.

Hitler to Roosevelt: Denies War Blame

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler today replied to President Roosevelt's appeal for European peace with the assertion that "I completely and in every way share your views concerning the immeasurable consequences of a European war."

"Be assured that I thoroughly appreciate the high-minded intentions underlying your argument," the Reichsfuehrer telegraphed in response to the message Roosevelt sent yesterday to the leaders of Germany, Czechoslovakia, Britain and France.

Roosevelt appealed for continuance of peaceful negotiations in an effort to solve the Czechoslovak crisis and avoid war.

"For that very reason," said the Chancellor after his reference to the "immeasurable consequences" of such a conflict, "I can and must decline every responsibility of the German people and its leadership if, contrary to all my efforts to date, further developments should actually lead to an outbreak of hostilities."

"In order to form correct judgment concerning the Sudeten problem now under discussion it is indispensable to direct thoughts to events in which in the last analysis the origin of these problems and their dangers are rooted."

"DISGRACEFULLY BETRAYED"

"The German people in the year 1918 put down their arms in the faith that the conclusion of peace with the opponents at that time would bring a realization of the principles and ideas which were solemnly proclaimed by President Wilson and just as solemnly accepted by all the powers at war as binding upon them."

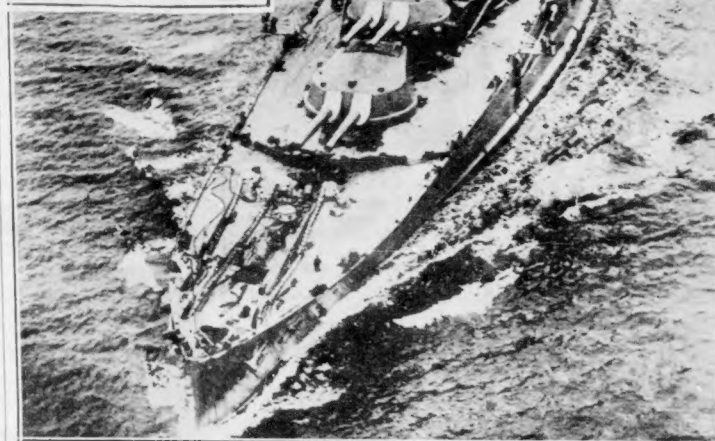

"Never in history has the faith of the people been more disgracefully betrayed than happened then and the conditions of peace forced upon the vanquished nations in the suburbs of Paris (Versailles) has fulfilled none of the promises given."

"On the contrary, they created a political regime in Europe that reduced the vanquished nations to pariahs, stripped of all rights, and that was recognized from the beginning by all judicious persons as untenable."

"One of the points which most clearly revealed the character of the dictates of 1919 was the founding of the Czechoslovak

Britain in New Plea

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Great Britain faced the danger of war in 96 hours over Czechoslovakia today by bringing France and Soviet Russia to a new triple entente and by dispatching a new plea for peace to Chancellor Hitler.

Prime Minister Chamberlain issued the latest appeal from his Downing street residence just after midnight.

Britain followed this speech with an authoritative warning "that Great Britain and Russia will stand by France," who would be bound to aid Czechoslovakia against attack.

The warning did not make clear whether Britain would consider invasion of German speaking Sudetenland to be aggression and call forth the armed might of the three powers. The next steps appeared to be:

Hitler's reply to the note Sir Horace Wilson, Chamberlain's advisor, took to Berlin yesterday before the s. ech.

A broadcast by Chamberlain to the world today at 8 p. m. (3 p. m. Boston Daylight Time).

Tomorrow's opening of Parliament, to hear Chamberlain's exposition of the crisis and what he has done to maintain peace, Chamberlain, in the after midnight statement, said:

"We regard ourselves as morally responsible for seeing that promises (to cede Sudetenland to Germany under terms of an English-French agreement) are carried out fairly and fully . . . with all reasonable promptitude."

"I trust that the chancellor will not reject this proposal . . ."

Hitler charged that President Benes of Czechoslovakia now holds in his hands peace or war, London saw in this an ominous

Ready! Britain Digs In

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Britain, successfully defended for a thousand years, prepared furiously today for the greatest defense in her history.

All night long through the drizzling rain, her old men dug trenches in parks and vacant lots. All night long her young men rolled away to their guns along the coast.

In the ghostly glare of torchlight, residents dug up their gardens. Convinced their peace-time hours were numbered, they threw out their chrysanthemums and dug themselves refugees below ground.

Trucks filled with gas masks rumbled across the city. Policemen went from door to door with instructions how to darken windows in air raid blackouts. Patients able to continue convalescence at home left hospitals.

Everything imaginable was turned into air raid shelters. Workers sealed the wine cellar at Windsor Castle. They started making a shelter out of the mews of Buckingham Palace. They barricaded railroad tunnels, hid caves along the south coast, church crypts, bank vaults.

London was full of American tourists. Some, with booking on late October boats, rushed to steamship companies to get sailings advanced. The first available bookings to New York were for October 21.

Unofficially, the embassy advised Americans to return home at once. London hurried to buy reserve supplies of canned foods, flour and sugar. Movie theaters noted a slump.

Britain called out territorial troops for anti-aircraft and coast defense work. Naval and royal air force reserves continued to report for duty. Royal air force leaves were cancelled. The Observation Corps was called up.

NO MAYPOLE—but they play. Sudeten German children frolic around a signpost at the German-Czech frontier.

Penney's Wife Held as Killer

AUBURN, Me., Sept. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Viola Penney, dark-haired widow, pleaded innocent in Superior court today to a grand jury accusing her of slaying her husband, John, May 19.

Judge Albert Bellevue remanded her to the county jail without bail to await trial. Date for the trial was to be set at a conference later today between counsel and the judge.

The proceedings were brief. Mrs. Penney, who had offered a reward for the arrest of her husband's slayer, was brought into the courtroom by Mrs. Geneva Bridges, wife of Sheriff Rex Bridges, who acts as police matron for women prisoners, and Deputy Sheriff James B. Longely.

Dressed in black, Mrs. Penney entered her plea in a calm, firm voice, easily heard throughout the courtroom.

It was Mrs. Penney who called police to the Penney filling station on the night of the murder. She declared her husband had not returned from his nearby filling station and that she, because of illness, was not able to investigate.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

Officers found Penny unconscious near a grease pit, his skull fractured by a heavy instrument. He died 36 hours later without gaining consciousness.

The indictment came after months of investigation, pushed by a private Boston detective in the employ of persons interested in solving the murder.

War Peril Refugees Reach Hub

Many Americans who quit Europe because of the threatening war situation, were aboard the S. S. Exeter of the American Export Lines arriving in Boston today.

Included in the passenger list were 16 children.

Mrs. Evelyn Nager of Boston and New York told reporters she cut short a tour of Egypt and Italy in order to be sure not to be caught in a last-minute rush of American refugees if war is declared.

Byron Beattie, 28, of Portland, Me., likewise returning from an Italian tour, said the Italian people are "growing restless under Mussolini."

"They don't seem to have their former faith in him," Beattie said. "I did not get to see any high personages, but I did talk a lot to the men and women in the streets. They're grumbling, and tired of war and preparations for war."

The Exeter carried 111 passengers for Boston and New York from Mediterranean ports.

Wife's Father Shouts 'Lie!'

Longo Weeps as He Reads Love Notes

Testimony of the hectic love-life and marital discords of young Paul J. Longo and his pretty wife, the former Janet Mitchell, was taken under advisement by Judge Arthur Beane in Middlesex Probate court today.

Tears coursed down Longo's face and his voice choked as, in a dramatic conclusion to his fight against his wife's suit for divorce, he read his own love letters to her from the witness stand.

Just prior to this, the courtroom had been thrown into confusion when Mrs. Longo's father, William C. Mitchell, sitting among the spectators, shouted at Longo on the witness stand:

"You liar!"

This was when Longo testified he and his father-in-law had been "very friendly" up to the time Mrs. Longo's divorce papers were filed.

REVEALS INTIMACIES

Another dramatic point was Longo's testimony on the witness stand that, despite their separation, he saw his wife almost daily in her mother's home. They were intimate, he asserted on the stand, "two or three times a week" despite their separation. Mrs. Longo on the stand yesterday flatly denied this.

At another point, Longo charged his wife and her mother both with having permitted themselves to be "picked up" by two men in a downtown Boston theater last June, Mrs. Mitchell, when he accused her of it, he testified, told him he "shouldn't blame Janet for it."

"I still love Janet, and I don't think it was the right thing for her to do," Longo testified.

FIERY LOVE TEARS

He still loves her, he testified, and "wants to see her happy." She, yesterday, publicly repudiated her love for him, testifying on the witness stand that she doesn't love him any more.

Longo admitted on the stand that he "cries frequently" when upset or under emotional stress. He admitted it without visible embarrassment, speaking in a matter-of-fact voice. A few minutes later he demonstrated it.

Handed one of the love letters he identified as having been written to Janet by him during their separation, he started to read:

"I love you blindly. I love you madly . . ."

Tears came into his eyes and coursed down his cheeks, his voice choked, and he had to pause.

SKY'S THE LIMIT

Another letter contained the phrase:

"Being single is hell on earth."

But in another, referring to her divorce suit and, he explained, her father's hope that there might be a private hearing of the case, he wrote:

"The sky is the limit! There'll be no private hearing and no loneliness!"

A final love letter his last written on September 18, only nine days ago, reads:

"I may sound silly, but I hope some guiding star is watching over you and the baby."

Longo testified, at another point on the stand, that he bought a boat and named it "Judith" for the baby.

He has a rowboat, too, he said, and named the rowboat "Janet."

This is the second time Mrs. Longo has sought a divorce. In 1932 she accused her husband, among other things, of having used her pet goldfish for bait.

On that occasion, Judge Beane, who also heard that case, refused her plea.

Subsequently, the Longos were reconciled, but separated again shortly after their baby, now one year old, was born. Mrs. Longo is seeking custody of the child.

She Saw 2 Run After Murder

How two men ran into the street after William Phillips, Somerville store keeper, was killed the night of May 31 last, was told to the jury before Judge Wilford Gray in Middlesex Superior Criminal court today by Mrs. Annie Panzino, Perkins street, Somerville.

On trial are Walter St. Sauveur, 21, and Wallace Greene, 22.

TOO DARK TO TELL

"I was in my home about 11:10 o'clock that night," Mrs. Panzino testified, "when my attention was attracted by the sound of crashing bottles in the store across the street. A moment later there were several shots."

"I ran to the front window in time to see two men run from the store. I saw another man, still in the store, staggering toward the front door. He staggered almost to the door and then collapsed, face down, across the threshold."

The smaller of the two men who ran from the store, Mrs. Panzino testified, "had something in his hand," but whether it was a gun she was unable to say.

She admitted it was too dark for her to distinguish either of the two men's features.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Robert McCarthy for Greene and Attorney George Lourie for St. Sauveur, Mrs. Panzino admitted she was able to identify neither Greene nor St. Sauveur as Phillips' actual assailants when they were brought back here after being apprehended in Salt Lake City.

JAIL ESCAPE PLOT

Assistant District Attorney William J. McCluskey told the jury, in his opening statement, the state would show that St. Sauveur and Greene plotted to escape from jail after being brought back here on the murder charge.

"The state will show that notes passed between them relative to this plan to escape," McCluskey said.

The state plans also to show, he stated, that on June 9 St. Sauveur "and another" help up a motorist in Medford, robbed him of his car, and used his car to get to Salt Lake City. A pistol was found in the car when St. Sauveur was apprehended, McCluskey said, and the state, he told the jury, will endeavor to show that this was the pistol used in killing Phillips.

TOBIN LEADS RELIEF HERE

As National WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins flew to Washington today to speed release of unlimited federal funds for disaster rehabilitation work in New England, Mayor Tobin took decisive action here.

Having hastily conferred with city department heads, he ordered 2000 unemployed men immediately assigned to Boston WPA projects.

The mayor directed the added force of workers to be put on various damage-repair jobs tomorrow if possible.

Colonel Thomas F. Sullivan, Boston WPA director, agreed to cut red tape and approve the payroll increases at once, Mayor Tobin said. It was arranged that as the new WPA workers reported, others already engaged in disaster relief projects would be assigned back to their original jobs of street and sewer construction.

SEEDS TO CAPITAL

WPA Administrator Hopkins, embarking by airplane for Washington, said he wished to lay full details of New England's disaster before President Roosevelt without further delay.

Gravest of the emergency here, as outlined by governors of the states most devastated by flood and hurricane, caused Hopkins to cancel plans for further personal survey of the affected districts.

Leaving Boston in a fast government plane, he said he would fly over hard hit sections of Cape Cod and Rhode Island, but would not stop at Hartford, Ct., as he had originally intended.

WILL CUT RED TAPE

He also indicated frankly his hope that President Roosevelt's official approval would insure quick cutting of WPA and RFC red tape, putting U. S. Treasury resources unstintingly behind sweeping relief measures in New England.

Meantime, agencies other than the WPA proceeded rapidly to complete arrangements for extending necessary aid to individuals, business firms and farmers.

The American Red Cross, drawing heavily on its emergency reserve funds while campaigning to raise a new $500,000 by popular subscription, continued to feed the hungry and shelter the homeless throughout New England.

Red Cross administrative heads began working out plans for making temporary cash grants to distressed families and restoring means of livelihood to individuals whose equipment for self-support was destroyed.

LOANS PROPOSED

Under direction of National Chairman Charles B. Henderson, the Federal Disaster Loan Corporation, a branch of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, completed plans for setting up branch offices in principal New England centers.

Appointed to assist the federal personnel of these offices were local advisory committees.

It was expected that release of substantial sums of money to business men and industrial plants might be speedily arranged.

For farmers, heaviest sufferers in New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine and victims of a $10,000,000 loss in Massachusetts alone, special federal relief measures were being taken.

The U. S. Farm Security Administration notified governors of each of the New England states that ample funds were already available for quick distribution to those requiring rehabilitation.

Loans would be made with a minimum of red tape for purposes of providing food, clothing and shelter for farm families as well as for replacement of equipment, including machinery, livestock and buildings, it was announced.

ELAS OFFER HELP

Applications for such loans might be made at once to rural agents of the Farm Security Administration, its Washington headquarters stated. In Boston, John F. Malley, newly appointed disaster relief chairman of the national B. P. O. E., issued an appeal to 60,000 New England Elks, urging them to contribute efforts, cash and supplies to rehabilitation work.

Already in full swing throughout New England was the ambitious WPA program outlined and given a blanket okay by Hopkins.

After conferring here with the six New England governors and various other representatives of the disaster-stricken areas, Hopkins set in motion machinery guaranteeing that devastated districts would be rebuilt and rehabilitated regardless of cost.

In compliance with his authorization, State WPA administrators began hiring at once from outside the ranks of welfare rolls. The pay will be, in some cases, triple that of the usual $55 a month.

Pay will vary from $45 to $56 and even $60 a week, counting long hours of overtime on rehabilitation tasks. There is to be no limit to the number of those employed or the amount of money to be spent. The need governed the hiring and expenditures.

GIVEN WIDE POWERS

In general charge of WPA efforts throughout Massachusetts was Colonel John J. McDonough, state administrator.

Before leaving for Washington, Hopkins delegated additional authority to him and indicated that this authority would be still further amplified by wide discretionary powers.

2 More Dead Of Storm Hurts

Crushed six days ago when she ran out of her home to warn a young man about a tree that was about to fall, Mrs. Elsie Stubbs, Chelsea street, Everett, died in Whidden hospital today.

The man, Richard Gilday, 25, Fairview street, Everett, was killed instantly when the tree fell on him and Mrs. Stubbs the night of the hurricane.

Another death today attributed to the storm was that of Miss Frances L. Healy, 73, Greenwood street, Malden.

Miss Healy was in New York with her sister, Mrs. Rose D. Wallin, when the storm occurred. Unable to get back to Boston any other way, she and Mrs. Wallin flew. When she stepped off the plane at Boston airport, Miss Healy collapsed.

Her death was said by Medical Examiner J. P. Reardon to have been due to a ruptured hardened artery, the rupture caused probably by excitement.

Ex-Convict Shot Twice

Joseph P. Gallagher, 38-year-old Roxbury ex-convict, was wounded, probably fatally, in a gun battle early today in a station street cafe.

City Hospital surgeons prepared to operate to save the life of the man, torn by 32 caliber bullets in the chest and abdomen.

According to police, the fight started just at closing time. Officers heard shots and rushed to the cafe, a short distance from Roxbury Crossing police station. They found Gallagher unconscious on the floor, a gun near him.

None of the dozen persons in the cafe could recall whether Gallagher was a participant in the battle or was caught between cross-fire.

All hospitals in Greater Boston were checked in the belief that a second man, described as dark-complexioned and about 22, was wounded.

Quins Open Fight Over Suit Today

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (INS)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafee, who ushered the Dionne quintuplets into the world, will appear in federal court here to fight a $1,000,000 lawsuit.

The suit, brought by Ivan I. Spear, Chicago promoter, charges Dr. Dafee and 12 other persons or corporations with conspiring to abrogate a contract between Spear and Oliva Dionne, father of the quins, calling for their appearance on a tour.

Peppery as usual, Dr. Dafee arrived in Chicago today to be greeted by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health.

"Certainly I objected to taking those babies on a tour five days after they were born," Dr. Dafee declared. "They were hovering between life and death. Their right to live was more important than any contract."

He said the quins would move into the new Dionne family home next spring. The five are healthy and growing, he said, and they still have their tonsils.

APPLE EMERGENCY

The Apple Growers of New England suffered very severely during the recent hurricane. With practically half of their trees on the ground they have asked our assistance in marketing their apples immediately.

The fruit cannot be stored. It must be marketed and consumed within a comparatively brief space of time. In cooperation with all other New England Food distributors, we are trying to lend a hand in this crisis.

We ask you to use apples just as freely as you can every day. We respectfully suggest that you eat a few apples each day and that apples have a prominent place in your cooking. They are delicious baked by themselves, or in pies, and there are many other ways they can be prepared so that all the family will welcome them.

In all food stores local apples will be plentiful and they will be priced right. We hope that you will exercise the neighborly instinct to help the Apple Growers by cleverly working apples into the daily diet as much as possible.

The New England Apple Growers, while very hard hit, are not crying about their plight. With the true New England Spirit they have taken their loss with splendid courage and have asked only that the resources of the Food Industry be used in quickly marketing their product.

You can help! Buy Apples!

CZECHS SEE HITLER DEFEAT

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

(Copyright, 1938)
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PRAGUE, Sept. 27 (INS)—News of the Franco-British-Russian threat of war against Germany if Czechoslovakia is invaded cut through the murk of impending catastrophe like a flash of sunshine on its belated receipt here today.

But the relief was short-lived, for few here can visualize now Adolf Hitler can now back down.

The opinion of all is that he is now properly frightened, however. As the allied warning makes clear to him for the first time he is confronted by an overwhelmingly superior force.

SEE WAY OUT

Only one possible, though improbable way out was visualized here. That was that Hitler might ask an international conference, probably a four-power one, in which he and Premier Mussolini would sit opposite Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Premier Edouard Daladier.

Hitler's declaration in his speech at the Sportpalast last night that he was willing to admit British troops into the Sudetenland, in the opinion of Prague, shows that he may concede anything politically possible to avoid war against such odds and that he is suggesting a way to the allies to help him save face.

The allied warning is believed here to have one positive result—that Hitler, if he attacks Saturday, will not use his first regular army but large number of so-called Heimen Wehr Corps men in the guise of civil war in a Spain.

DEFEAT FOR FUEHRER

These, however, can be easily repulsed. The Czech army is now so strong that Germany could not penetrate without its shock-striking regulars.

Whatever comes, the opinion of central Europe is that Hitler has already suffered a defeat and has more pain to come.

David faced Goliath today, without fear. Czechoslovakia will not surrender to Hitler. Conscious that she has yielded and is ready, still to yield everything for peace, except her national existence, she is willing if necessary to become another Serbia.

But she feels that if this grim fate is hers, she will still come out of the purgatory a nation.

Czechoslovakia listened to Hitler's speech in complete darkness. Prague was "blacked out." The nation was compelled to take into account the possibility of a knock-out air attack even while Hitler spoke.

But blacker than the night were the words he heard, shouted by a strained voice which, many observed, was for the first time in Hitler's career tremulous.

The tone belied the firmness of his threat to plunge himself, his nation and all Europe into a war which every thinking man on this continent is convinced would mean the end of Hitler.

This frightful future seemed to many here to have shaken the nerve of the man who has already created a greater German empire than ever existed before without firing a shot, and who now without effort fighting has been offered all he ever claimed he wanted.

The most fateful step, it was realized here, was fixing the ultimatum for October 1, for now Hitler has cut behind him the bridge of possible retreat.

Hull Warns All Shun Europe

A warning from Secretary of State Hull urging Americans to "forego travel to Europe except in cases of absolute necessity" was posted in the passport office at the Federal building today.

All persons seeking passports for foreign travel were asked to give serious consideration to the Hull statement, which follows:

"Reports reaching the Department of State from nearly all sections of Europe emphasize the increasing difficulty of travel and delays being experienced by Americans in obtaining passage home."

"In the circumstances the Department of State strongly advises all American citizens, for the time being, to forego travel in Europe except in cases of absolute necessity."

Embassy Warns All Americans 'Go Home'

LONDON, Sept. 27 (INS)—The United States embassy today advised all Americans to leave England because of the threat of war. The embassy's statement read:

Prague Prepares Against Air Raids

Lloyd George Warns Britain

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—White-haired David Lloyd George, who has had more experience dealing with Germans both during and after the World War than any other prime minister, today called for a clear British French stand to "resist aggression."

"We can hardly abandon the Czechs who acted upon our counsel without dishonor to ourselves," he wrote in a letter to the South Wales Liberal Federation.

"In 1914 we made a mistake in not warning Germany in time that if she invaded Belgium she would have to face the whole might of the British empire."

"Do not let us repeat that tragic blunder."

"If war is to be averted, what is required is a clear statement by the British government . . . That the British government would side with France and other countries to resist aggression."

First of Foreign Troops Quit Spain

GENEVA, Sept. 27 (INS)—The first detachments of foreign volunteers were withdrawn from the Spanish government army on the Barcelona front today, it was announced by the Spanish delegation here.

The withdrawals were believed to be the first step toward a "rapid conciliation" between the opposing forces.

Text of Czech Reply to Hitler

support in the event of our being feloniously attacked. The vulgar German campaign continued.

While Mr. Chamberlain was at Godesberg, the following message was received by my government from His Majesty's and French representatives at Prague:

"We have agreed with the French government that the Czechoslovak government be informed that the French and British governments cannot continue to take responsibility of advising them not to mobilize."

My new government, headed by General Syrový, declared they accept full responsibility for their predecessor's decision to accept stern terms of the so-called Anglo-French plan.

Yesterday (last Saturday) after the return of Mr. Chamberlain from Godesberg, a new proposition was handed by His Majesty's minister in Prague to my government with the additional information that His Majesty's government is acting solely as an intermediary and is neither advising nor pressing my government in any way.

Mr. Krofta, in receiving the plan from the hands of His Majesty's minister in Prague, assured him the Czechoslovak government will study it in the same spirit in which they have co-operated with Britain and France hitherto.

My government now has studied the document and map. It is a de facto ultimatum of the sort usually presented to a vanquished nation and not a proposition to a sovereign state which has shown the greatest possible readiness to make sacrifices for appeasement of Europe.

Not the smallest trace of such readiness for sacrifices has yet been manifested by Mr. Hitler's government. My government is amazed at the contents of the memorandum. The proposals go far beyond what we agreed to in the so-called Anglo-French plan.

They deprive us of every safeguard for our national existence. We are to yield up large proportions of our carefully prepared defenses and admit German armies deep into our country before we have been able to organize it on a new basis or make any preparations for its defense.

Our national and economic independence would automatically disappear with acceptance of Herr Hitler's plan.

The whole process of moving the population is to be reduced to panic and flight on the part of those who will not accept the German Nazi regime. They have to leave their homes without even the right to take their personal belongings or even, in case of peasants, their cows.

My government wished me to declare in all solemnity that Hitler's demands in their present form are absolutely and unconditionally unacceptable to my government.

Against these new cruel demands, my government feels bound to make their utmost resistance and we shall do so, God helping us.

We rely upon the two greatest western democracies, whose wishes we have followed much against our own judgment, to stand by us in our hour of trial.

Roosevelt Calls Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt called his cabinet into session today for a momentous decision on the situation in Europe which would mean to the United States.

That was what the White House said today after the president had called his cabinet into session.

President Roosevelt called his cabinet into session today for a momentous decision on the situation in Europe which would mean to the United States.

"In the event of a general war the American people face the fact that no nation can escape the measure of the consequences of such a world catastrophe."

The president has been studying the situation since the German ultimatum to Czechoslovakia was received. He has been in close touch with the British and French governments.

French Hitler Reply? Troops?

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—France has answered Adolf Hitler's threat against Czechoslovakia by calling additional masses of troops to the colors, sources close to the government said today.

This disclosure of the French government's reaction to Hitler's speech at Godesberg came as a surprise to many observers.

The cabinet met for one hour and 40 minutes. The departmental ministers would not be away from their momentous decision.

APPLE EMERGENCY! GROWERS NEED YOUR HELP!

With one arm broken fighting the hurricane, a New England apple grower is working heroically day and night to salvage what he can from the terrible wreckage made of his entire means of livelihood. In his orchard of 2,500 trees over a thousand are a twisted mass. The roof was blown from his storage shed. His home and his farm buildings are badly damaged.

He is only one of the individual growers in our New England apple industry facing the ruin of the storm. These men are not asking pity. They are meeting their disaster with incredible courage and with true New England resourcefulness.

Except for the comparatively small crop harvested before the storm, the New England apple crop is on the ground — four to five million boxes. Orchardists are working frantically to get this fine fruit picked up and on the market. These apples, however, cannot be stored, so that the normal orderly marketing is impossible. They must be consumed within a comparatively brief space of time.

This emergency calls for your help. Buy native apples now and during the coming days and weeks. Use apples liberally. Eat TWO apples a day. Baked, in pies, in sauces and in countless other ways use apples; turn this emergency to your health and advantage.

We are co-operating with the New England Farmer. We ask you to help. Your neighbor apple grower isn't asking for pity. He's got apples to sell. Buy them!

Queen Launches Ship, Asks Peace

CLYDEBANK, Scotland, Sept. 27 (AP)—A famous prayer that "God's grace and mercy protect our king and queen" may yet be heard in the world, was voiced by Queen Elizabeth today at the launching of Britain's greatest ship, the battleship HMS King George V.

"I bring you a message from the king," Queen Elizabeth said to the crowd.

"He bids you to be of good cheer in spite of the clouds hanging over the world. His Majesty knows that as ever before in critical times the people of this country will keep cool heads and brave hearts."

Her Majesty broke the traditional bottle of champagne across the Queen Elizabeth's prow.

On Beacon Hill

Brief Lull in Deb Circles

By BETTY ALDEN

THE PAST few days have seen a good many debuts in the social circles of Beacon Hill. For the most part, they have been a lull in the season. But also most of them have been a lull in the season. But also most of them have been a lull in the season. But also most of them have been a lull in the season.

There were a few exceptions, however. One of the most notable was the debut of a young girl named Ruth Weyburn. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weyburn, of Brookline.

The first of these was the debut of a young girl named Ruth Weyburn. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weyburn, of Brookline. Among the guests who were present were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weyburn, of Brookline.

On Thursday many of them will journey to South Hamilton where Ruth Weyburn will be introduced at a luncheon to be given by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weyburn, of Brookline.

Meeting at The Locusts on Thursday will be Cynthia Sortwell... back after an eventful summer on wheels in Europe... Anne Knowles... whose debut ball on the following night will be a gala affair... Betsy Chalfoux of Commonwealth avenue, Elizabeth Minot of Brookline, Lydia Cobb of Concord, Emily Rice of South Hamilton, and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Barr Constock of Memorial Drive, Cambridge, will present their daughter, Dorothy, at a tea dance to be held on Friday of this week at the Cambridge Boat Club.

One of the debuts planned for October is that of Janet Pierce, who will arrive on October 14... This will be a tea dance at the home of Janet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walworth Pierce, on Bay Street road... On the same evening, Emily Rice will be the guest of honor at a dance at the Club on Hill.

Delays Departure for Paris School

CYNTHIA BURRAGE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, would be on her way to the Mademoiselle school in Paris for the ominous tone of the international news. The plans now are for the Queen Mary sailing on November 6... Boston girls who attended this school last year are Nancy Burrage, Cynthia's sister, Diana Bird and Nancy Bonner.

Although her father, Frederick R. Sears, has left Beverly Farms for his Beacon Street home, the energetic Eleanor Sears will remain at her Beacon Hill estate for the fall hunting at Myponk... When that is over, she will start on her annual travel journey.

Ardelle Moseley Plans October Bridal

ONE OF THE important October weddings will be that of Ardelle Moseley... daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Russell Moseley of Charles River... to Edward Dwight Fullerton, Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. Edward Dwight Fullerton of Dedham, on Saturday, October 3.

A debutante of the 1934-35 season, Ardelle is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League... Mr. Fullerton was graduated from Harvard in 1917, and is a member of the Hasty Pulling and the Spee Clubs.

Eleanor Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Williams of Needham, will be maid of honor... and the bridesmaids will be Gavin Osborne, Faith Barney, Hazel Wightman, Mrs. James A. Hutchinson, Jr. (Barbara Stevens), Mrs. Frederick Russell Moseley, Jr. (Leslie Bremer) and Mrs. William Rice Moseley.

Whizzer White, or the Parable of Homer Gabler

ONCE IN A LONG WHILE, NATURE centers its full measure of masculine wealth on one boy. It blesses him with size and symmetry, mental magnitude and social grace, moral balance and emotional poise. The result is a "Whizzer" White, the Colorado All-America quarterback, Phi Beta Kappa and Rhodes scholar who played for the professional Pirates against the Boston Shamrocks last night.

AUSTEN LAKE

It is a parable of the war, the struggle of the individual against the world.

Shamrocks Toss in Sponge

By BILL GRIMES

The Boston Shamrocks will not play any more professional football games in Boston this year, and from now on will be a road club, according to statement made today by Bill Scully, owner of the Shamrocks.

"I have come to the conclusion Boston is not the right spot for professional football," declared Scully. "We lost $4200 in our game last night with the Pittsburgh Pirates."

"This added to my loss of $14,000 with the Shamrocks last season has convinced me to devote to similar work on the road for the remainder of the season."

MAY GO TO COURT

"I will play at Boston, New Bedford, and Virginia Beach, and then may go to the Coast for three games. The Shamrocks will receive all Boston's share of the total gate for the season."

"I had been negotiating for a game between the Chicago Bears and the Shamrocks for Fenway Park, but that is out now. The Bears want a guarantee of $10,000."

"After my experience of playing the Pirates a week quarter for last night's game, I am all through putting up money for professional football in Boston."

"I believe that football is so many good college elevens in Greater Boston has worked against."

"The people here also know football better than in any other place in the country, and they seem to get all they wish from the game watching the college stars."

"I wish to thank the Boston Evening American for the help it gave to us. Boston sports writers have been generous to us, and my only regret is that we were unable to show them better results."

BEARS DIE SHON

Little Collins, general manager of the Red Sox, stated he regretted the Shamrocks had lost the season to the Bears.

"The club got off to a good start in its game with the Chicago Bears, and the Shamrocks would have been a good attraction. The Bears will be in the East for a week, and I thought they might have waived a guarantee and come here on a percentage basis."

"The Shamrocks asked the Red Sox to guarantee half of the money asked by the Bears, but we did not wish to enter into such an arrangement."

"We are in the baseball business and did not wish to get involved in professional football there than on a rental arrangement."

Hanley Says: Upsets Big Aid To Game

By L. B. PAT HANLEY

Head Coach of Boston University
That was handled by his coach, as reports by a ready reporter to the head referees of the FBI.

After the fashion show is over, the two of them sit on the ornate steps of an abandoned station that have been repurposed for public use. To the right, a sign reads: "THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH ALABAMA LIBRARY." The two men sit in the shadows of the station, talking about the future of the city. The man on the left, who is wearing a dark jacket, is looking down at his hands. The man on the right, who is wearing a light-colored shirt, is looking up at the sky.

[illegible]

The first question mark in American football was always in the future. It was not what was, but what would be possible. It is the real reason why football is played so unconditionally, why people believe in possible and not in actual.

Success in football hinges on two primary ingredients: water and food. It is that which comprises morale, muscle size and will to win. A deficiency of any of these items can easily result in defeat. But players themselves often forget about team morale.

The product of ad coaches has, it is a unfortunate. Players are constantly reminded of the fact that they are in a good when they are playing well, that games are not won in just weeks or that years pass before that the world does. It is a way to determine what Saturday is too late to realize that the opponent is tough and that they are not a professional. Usually these players are not trained. On the other hand we have experts. And these referees of coaches to run what is known as "the team" is now being done with the first week of football!

So-called practice games are rapidly disappearing from football schedules. Last year shows improved product in support of national as teams seek opponents of similar class and strength. Viewed from a coaching angle, this situation is ideal.

In these games which the public and players often figure to be easy, the coach is generally the only person who worries about the outcome and in cases of this sort defeat generally looms around the corner. If the players themselves are concerned about the outcome of that game victory is by all means possible.

The less powerful teams are always hopeful of meeting up with clubs in the top bracket. Therein, lies the ratings of the underdog always the possibility of an upset.

California—Off Tackle

By STUB ALLISON

(Coach at University of California, Rose Bowl Champions, Berkeley, Cal.)

The diagram shows a football field from a top-down perspective. The offensive line consists of seven players labeled E, T, C, G, G, T, and E from left to right. Player C has a circled number 6 next to him. A dashed line connects player C to player 7, who is positioned behind the line. Arrows indicate the movement of the ball carrier (labeled 'S') starting from between the two guards (G) and moving towards the right end (E). Another arrow points from the center (C) towards the right end (E), labeled 'Fb'. A thick black line represents the path of the ball carrier, curving around the right end (E). A circle containing the number 1 is located near the right end. Labels 'Hb' and 'E' are also present near the right end.

No. 1 and No. 2—take tackle in.
No. 3 and No. 4—drive end out.
No. 5—leads interference and takes first defensive back
No. 6—pulls out and also leads if he can get by opening made by No. 5.
No. 7—center leads No. 7 as far to right as possible.
Comment by Mr. Allison: "Hit hard, hit 'em first, or pick yourself off the ground."

Gambling Craze
At Cumberland

Casey to Bring Brothers Here

By JACK CONWAY

THEY WILL bet on most anything at Cumberland, Maryland. . . At its racing meeting this year Cumberland proved it is a better gambling town than Reno, Nevada, was in the palmy days of Tex Richard's Joe Gans-Battling Nelson bouts. . . Cumberland, with a population of 32,000, wagered $800,000 during ten days of racing, an average of $80,000 a day for an average of $25 a person.

Cumberland is more than 100 miles from Pittsburgh, the nearest big city, and 180 miles from Baltimore, which means that its racing receives very little outside support. . . During the winter, Miami and Palm Beach are red hot gambling centers, but they have thousands of dollars in fresh money coming in from the north each week. . . In Miami, it is estimated that a new crop of climate and excitement seekers are put through the cleaners every ten days.

I have never visited Butte, Montana, but from all accounts it is the liveliest gambling center in the United States. . . Many of the copper mines of Anacosta are located in Butte, and when there is demand for the red metal, which has been particularly feverish in recent years with all the world arming, money flows freely. . . The miners find their recreation gambling and drinking. . . The town is wide open, and you can play any gambling game you wish. . . Most of the gambling houses in Butte place a limit on the amount of money a workman may lose. . . A common figure is $20. . . The proprietors of the gambling houses are smart enough to know that there would be agitation against them if the miners were stripped of all of their earnings.

Miners who like to spin the roulette wheel or shoot dice recently insisted that beano be banned. . . They declared their wives spent so much time playing beano that they neglected to care for their household duties.

Caseys of Kerry Are Coming

WHEN STEVE CASEY, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, returns to this country from Ireland, he will have his three sturdy brothers with him. . . They will be billed as the "Caseys of Kerry" and will take on all comers. . . They will aim for a clash with the four Duseks. . . Casey and Dan O'Mahony have been well received in Ireland.

Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, whose American wrestling tour has failed to attract large crowds, would like to show in Boston. . . When O'Callaghan first came to the United States, he also stated he was going to box, but has since refused to do any punch flinging. . . The Irishman has had very limited experience, both as a wrestler and as a boxer. . . He could not hope to win against first class opposition.

Paul Bowser, who is attending the Grand Circuit races at Lexington, Ky., will be back in Boston the latter part of the week prepared to get his fall wrestling season underway. . . Bowser will stage two shows a month at the Garden.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new home of the Boston Skating Club near the Metropolitan Parkway on the Cambridge side of the Charles. . . The structure will cost $100,000. . . The arena will lose $40,000 in rental. . . For years the Boston Skating Club held forth at the Arena. . . It was this writer who first revealed that the Boston Skating Club was going to have its own building.

Random Shots at Target

PAL REED, the former middleweight boxer who fought Harry Greb, Mickey Walker and other stars, is punching out mutual tickets at Rockingham Park. . . Pal is one of the few boxers who was successful in getting a college degree after retiring from the ring. . . Reed is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire, and later acted as physical director at that university.

George (Kid) Lee of Worcester, former New England welterweight champion, may always be found in a ringside seat at the Garden on the night of an important bout. . . He is conducting a successful tavern business in Worcester. Remember Billy Murphy of Lowell, former welterweight rival of Al Miller? . . . He is in the tavern business in Lowell.

Chick Hayes tells me Coleman Patrick Welch of Portland is one of the most promising middleweights in the east. . . Welch weighs 154 pounds, is 19 years old and has won 18 professional bouts. . . Welch is wise enough not to wish his ring advance hurried until he has gained necessary experience.

Two Shifts Made In H. C. Backfield

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 27 (AP)—DE Eddie Anderson has made two important backfield changes as Holy Cross prepares for Saturday's game here with Rhode Island State.

Andy Glardi, who was the Crusaders' outstanding back in last week's 28-0 victory over Providence, was switched to right half and promoted to Team A and Joe Osmanski, sophomore brother of the Purple captain, was changed from right half to left half on the second team.

Giants to Divide Series in 31 Parts

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—No matter where they finish in the National League's first division this season, the New York Giants have decided to split their share of the World Series money into 31 full shares.

In addition to the players who went through the regular season, they voted full shares to Eugene Whitehead, who was unable to play all year; Trainer Willie Schaeffer, Coaches Frank Snyder and Tom Clarke and Secretary Ed- die Brannick.

Huskies Work Under Handicaps

By WILL CONNELL

Daniel in the Lion's Den, or Northeastern at Boston College, are two apt captions for Friday night's scene under floodlights at the Heights.

The lights aren't any handicap to Northeastern, since the late working squad members seldom practice by daylight. Some of the players report at 5:45 p. m. and it is after six before they are on the field.

manages to get in an hour's work under lights with these late comers if he's lucky.

Coach Dunn, former aide to Dick Harlow at Harvard, would need to be several kinds of a magician to overcome the practice handicap.

His squad is small—less than 30 men—and often there aren't enough men to stage even a dummy scrimmage.

Still, he is cheerful about his difficult job, and even figures on doing reasonably well in later game if the squad isn't demoralized by the Eagles.

The Husky varsity has a couple of big men in the line, and one in the backfield. The others on the team scale down through medium weights to one or two atoms whose football instinct and courage are their sole assets.

Carl Johnson and Connie Sullivan are ends, Stan Rogers and Andy Bierenbroodspot tackles, Gerald DeNapoli and Arnold Kaufman guards, and Fred Lee the center.

ROGERS A STANDOUT

Rogers, a 190-pounder, is good enough for anyone's team. Kaufman, a running guard and a terrific blocker, could grab the job in the strongest kind of competition. He weighs only 165, but has everything.

Bierenbroodspot, the second line lineman, weighs 185 and with Rogers gives the Huskies a collegiate pair of tackles. But the line average weight is low, with center Lee, under 150 pounds, the light-weight.

Ken Harding, blocking back; Manuel Flumery, who calls signals; Bill Little and Capt. Jim Connolly form the first four. Connolly is a first class back with 185 very useful pounds, and Harding, who hits 170, helps give some power.

The subs likely to get in there include Andy Anderson, center; Boy Riley and Gardner Holmes, ends; Joe Howlett, guard; Joe Beaton and Ken Tubbs, blocking backs, and Alex Struzer, fullback.

Struzer actually is a fullback, though you wouldn't believe it if you saw him. He weighs only 140. Maybe you'd think that too little for college, but actually he is far tougher than most big men and never turns up with an injury.

There's no reason in the world for Jimmy Dunn to be cheerful, but he's just that. Starting his second year at Northeastern where he went from Harvard, he is doing a top flight job despite all the handicaps.

At C. C., which is clearly out of Northeastern's football strata, the Huskies run into Bates, Lowell Textile, St. Anselm's, Springfield, American International and Upsala.

B'S HAVE FIND IN MILLER

Free, Leslie Cottrell of the New England Professional Golfers' Association is seriously considering opening an English reading course this winter for his brother pros. All news rags carried stories that yesterday's amateur-pro tournament had been shifted from Merrimack Valley to Bear Hill. Either the N. E. P. G. A. members can't read English or none of their club members left papers in the locker room yesterday for the tourney was called off. Less than a quorum showed up at Bear Hill. . . Vice Davis O'Brien, Texas Christian flyweight back is rated as one of the best passers in the Southwestern Conference. Two of his heaves struck pay dirt against the Centenary Giants. . . Frank Thomas is banking on his two 238 pound tackles, Merrill and Wood, to maneuver Alabama to the Southern Conference title. . . During the draft meeting in Pittsburgh next Tuesday night, Judge Landis will be watching for any indication of a tie up between the St. Louis Cardinals, the Phillies, Cincinnati and Brooklyn. . . Coach Eddie Wilson has a great club at Idaho. . . Selection of Eddie Mayo, the ex-Bee as the most valuable player, is a tip-off on the Pacific coast League.

Judge Landis

"Dock" Prothro, who recently resigned as manager of Little Rock, will step into Brooklyna or St. Louis Cardinals berth. . . Henry Markel, the 22 year old second baseman that the Bees bought from Birmingham, Ala. started his baseball career two years ago at Eau Claire, a Class D organization, and hit for .365. In 1937, he led the Three I League with an average of .345 and he hit for .324 in the Southern Association this season. It looks like Majeski would be at second base for the Bees next season with Eddie Miller at short and Tony Cucinello at the hot corner. . . If they can acquire the services of a powerful hitting outfielder the Bees will be a contender for the pennant next year. . . U. C. L. A. looked better than U. S. C. last Saturday, which doesn't speak well for Harvard Jones' pet or the mythical new offense that Southern Cal. was to have uncovered against Alabama. . . Gabby Hartnett and his Chicago Cubs are now only one and one half games behind the Pirates. The Cubs and the Pirates begin a three game series today at Wrigley Field, which will decide the National League pennant. . . Eddie Miller, the short stop that the Bees bought from Kansas City is rated as one of the best infielders in baseball. The Cubs are a fine short end bet to take the flag. GRIMES

'Pure' Ring Stars Clash

Amateur boxing in Boston returns to the sports calendar next Monday night, at the Arena when the Irish American A. A. stages its initial tournament of the 1938-39 season. The progressive South Boston club will offer these regular Monday night presentations of "Fighting Fights" during the fall winter and spring seasons, together with special meetings of national and international importance.

The opening show will be the first in a series of four tryouts for the 1938 "Irish American Golden Gloves Championships." There will be competition in six divisions at open weights—115, 126, 135, 147 and 160 pounds and heavyweights.

In addition two novice classes at 147 and 160 pounds will be held each of the four weeks, with the respective winners in each class coming together in the grand finals of the Golden Gloves on October 31.

All entries close with Tom Kennedy at the Arena, whose further information concerning the coming season of pure contest can be obtained. All boxers planning to enter the tryout on October 3 are urged to file their applications immediately.

Gordon Attributes Success to Luck

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—Mr. Joe Gordon, the youth who has received innumerable votes as most eminent rookie of the season, today paused in his quest of gilded glory to address a few modest syllables to Yankee camp followers.

"Of course, I'm all excited about getting the opportunity to play in my first World Series." A smile suffused the elegantly proportioned facial architecture of Anthony Lazzeri's 23-year-old successor at the middle bag.

"I never expected anything like it a couple of years ago. I sure have been very lucky."

Joe Gordon

"And don't worry about the Yanks in the series either," cautioned the magnificent molder of 23 home runs.

"The way we've been playing is nothing but a usual letdown with the pennant won. That's what the older fellows tell me. They say it always happens."

SOMETHING MISSING

"It's not that we aren't trying. No, we think that we're trying and we go out there to win, but there's just that little something missing. Maybe it's because the real incentive isn't there."

"It won't have any effect on the way we play in the World Series," Mr. Joe Gordon assured his panting public. "If the Pirates or any other club think so, they're going to be sadly mistaken. This is the cockiest, most confident gang of fellows I've ever been with. They're sure they can lick everybody. When the chips are down you can depend on them."

"I guess I've been darn fortunate. At the beginning of the season I was a little bit jittery. You know, I'd never played major league ball and I wasn't exactly sure of myself. Joe McCarthy certainly handled me better than any manager could have done."

"Remember when I was hurt after about three weeks?" Mr. Joe Gordon turned the baseball clock back. "Well, he kept me on the bench for a while and that was the best thing that ever happened to me. It gave me a chance to watch all the other boys play and see how they missed one every once in a while. It gave me the proper perspective."

STARS HAVE TOUGH DAYS

"Before that I used to think that every eye in the place was on me whenever I made an error. But when I watched from the bench I saw that even the big stars had their bad days and good days and nobody seemed to worry very much about it. Now that's exactly the way I feel about it. I've lost my nervousness."

Mulcahy Faces Turner on Hill

By BILL GRIMES

NATIONAL LEAGUE FIELD. Sept. 27—Jim Turner and Hugh Mulcahy were the opposing pitchers in the first game, as the Reds and Phillies opened the final home series here this afternoon. Manager Jimmy Wilson assigned Feinberg, a rookie shortstop to play left field and Buck Jordan at first base. This shift was made necessary due to the absence of Aronovich and Weintraub, who were out on account of the Jewish holidays.

FIRST INING

PHILLIES—Brack was thrown out by Warbler. E. Mueller singled to center. Cucchiello scored. John Klein, Mueller taking second. Jordan was safe and E. Mueller scored on Cucchiello's error. Feinberg grounded out to Fletcher. ONE RUN.

REDS—DiMaggio walked. Tripp forced DiMaggio. Gurns sacrificed. West singled, scoring Tripp and then took second when Atwood muffed Feinberg's throw. Cucchiello lined to Scharen. ONE RUN.

Bill Harris To Hurl For Sox

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27—Jim Bagby, the 21-year-old son of the famous Sergeant Jim, who twirled for the Cleveland Indians 20 years ago, arrived here today with the Red Sox feeling quite blue. Junior missed his opportunity of turning in 15 victories in his first season with the Red Sox when poor

Jim Bagby

Bill Harris, the late innings to overcome the Yankees' one-run lead. Not even Lefty Gougeon's great relief pitching could help Boston yesterday. Only one hit was made off the Boston southpaw in two innings that he was in there to show that he was in his old time form. Ben Chapman started quite a rumpus after he had made his third hit in the sixth when Umpire Basil called him out at second when Chapman tried to steal that bag. When Chapman returned to the Boston dugout he mopped up the bats and Umpire Summers reprimanded him for it but did not chase him from the game.

Bill Harris' final appearance in the Athletics in their final series with the Mackmen today, while Connie Mack depends on George Carter.

Ex-Big Leaguer Dies in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27 (AP)—Alfred J. Ferry, 60, former major league pitcher and scout, died today at St. Luke's Hospital after an illness of two days.

A pitcher with the Detroit Tigers and the Buffalo team of the old Eastern League, Ferry, as a scout, was credited with uncovering Ray Schalk, one of the best catchers of all time.

He leaves a brother, John, former twirler for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Tuss McLaughry Here Thursday

Tuss McLaughry will make his annual pilgrimage to Boston on Thursday to address the Brown Club of Boston at 12:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce building.

McLaughry sends his Brown football team against Harvard on Saturday at the Stadium in one of the major football events of the day.

At the head table, in addition to McLaughry, will be Chief Justice Fred T. Field, former Judge Kenneth D. Johnson, Linus Travers, chairman of the scholarship committee, and William J. Crooker of Malden, Brown center for three years.

Les Considered Best Of Stanczyk Gradders

NEW YORK—Les Stanczyk, Columbia sophomore back, has to live up to a lot. Two brothers, Joe, '31, and Ed, '38, preceded him at Columbia. Brother Joe, former Lion captain, coached Les in prep school and introduced him to Coach Lou Little with the remark, "from what he showed me last fall, he'll be the best Stanczyk you've had."

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 27—Penn State's lineup this season is liable to cause a lot of confusion in the press box and among the spectators.

Johnny Patrick (the elder), a senior and a flashy running back, has just about clinched the starting post at right halfback. Johnny Patrick (the younger), a sophomore, is slated to start at left half. He's a good blocker and the outstanding place-kicker on the squad.

DETROIT—Gus Dorais, University of Detroit coach, is starting to get a good look at his sophomore material about the time most coaches have finished that job. Detroit had only two weeks of practice before opening game against Purdue last Saturday, so Gus had to take the veterans he knew about and build them into a first-game team.

PORTLAND, ORE.—Matty Mathews, University of Portland coach, is ready to dispute Notre Dame's claim to the "Fighting Irish" nickname. His starting team includes Murray and O'Hagen, ends; Meagher and Boyle, tackles; McHarron, center; McNally and Maloney, halfbacks. Two more Maloneys and a Mainey are reserves and the coaches include Crowley and Caray.

WAKE FOREST, N. C.—Southern coaches seem to be "old" on Jim Lalanne, North Carolina sophomore back. Coach D. C. Peashead, Walker, whose Wake Forest team lost to the "Tarheels" last Saturday, suffered by criticism of its weak pass defense by remarking that Lalanne would have been hard to stop with any defense.

ITHACA, N. Y.—If you want to know how the Cornell College football rivalry is looking back to their early encounters, Glenn S. Warner, who is now coach at Temple, played for Cornell in those days and he was a star as "the Texas steer." Jim Lysah, now Cornell's director of athletics, captained one of the teams that beat the Red Raiders. Incidentally, their first clash in 1896 was the opening game of the season for both teams, just as it is this week.

Can't I Go, Too?—Here are the Kermit Roosevelts in this exclusive photo with their six-month-old infant, back in Cambridge for higher education. Kermit, grandson of "T. R.," begins studies at Harvard Graduate School and his wife, the former Polly Gaddis, of Milton, returns to Radcliffe as a sophomore. And while they do their homework, Kermit the Third looks on with a wistful gaze, probably wishing he could join either of his folks rather than be left alone while they are at classes.
